

P.A.'L.A.N.T.E.

People Against Landlord Abuse & Tenant Exploitation

Ramon Morillo

Born and raised in New York City, Ramon Morillo is an Independent Film Producer and longtime Harlem resident. Ramon has traveled the world working on films and helping others make films and documentaries. Ramon has helped with over 200 Indy films.

In 2018, Ramon began volunteering his professional services to help P.A.'L.A.N.T.E. Harlem document the unjust property deed theft of black and brown families. He has also helped dozens of other nonprofits in the New York City area highlight their fight for social justice.

At the start of the novel Coronavirus (COVID-19) global pandemic, Ramon began to dedicate his time to help address the economic fallout and food insecurity that remain particularly prevalent among low income Black and Latino communities. Ramon has been assisting food pantries in Harlem and helped create Bodega Friday, a weekly food program for P.A.'L.A.N.T.E. Harlem, in partnership with 9 Million Reasons and local elected officials in West Harlem. Ramon sits on the Board of P.A.'L.A.N.T.E. Harlem.